GREAT GIRDER'S TERRIBLE PLUNGE. BROADWAY BUILDING CRUSHED; 9 INJURED!

SHAH CLUBBED ASSASSIN; VIZIER HELD HIM IN AIR.

Persian Monarch Attacked in Paris Saves Himself by His Courage and Strength—Italian Anarchist Tried to Kill Him.

Later despatches say the Shah of Persia beat his would-be assassin over the head with his stick while the Grand Vizier held the Anarchist suspended in the air. The Vizier is a giant in size and strength.

The world-wide gang of red assassins who have slated the crowned heads of Europe for slaughter, to-day attempted to murder another ruler.

Victim No. 2 was to be Muzaffer-ed-Din, Shah of Persia. An Italian Anarchist broke through his guards in Paris and tried to shoot the monarch, but was seized in time. This Anarchist said to the police: "This is an affair between me and my conscience." He also said: "The Shah might as well resign; we will kill him."

There is no doubt that the assassination was planned, as the Shah received a letter telling him he was doomed.

Italian police have arrested nine more conspirators, two being relatives of Bresci. They have certain evidence that Humbert's death was planned.

Bresci said to-day, "It will be the Czar next."

Great Britain has protested to Belgium that the escape of Sipido, who tried to kill the Prince of Wales, was "a most unfortunate miscarriage of justice."

A Paterson Anarchist to-day, when he heard of the torture of Bresci, declared that King Victor Emmanuel III. would be marked for vengeance.

CLOSE CALL FOR THE SHAH.

PARIS, Aug. 2.—An attempt to assassinate the Shah of Persia, Muzaffer-ed-Din, was made here to-day, but the would-be assassin was seized in time and was clubbed by the Shah with his stick while the Grand Vizier, who is a giant, held the Anarchist suspended in air.

THE POLICE BELIEVE HE WAS SELECTED BY ANARCHIST PLOTTERS, AND THAT THE SHAH WAS ONE OF THE FOUR SOVEREIGNS ANARCHIST BRESCHI DECLARED HAD BEEN SELECTED FOR ASSASSINATION.

A man broke through a line of policemen as the Shah was leaving his apartments and tried to mount the royal carriage step.

He held a revolver in his hand, but as soon as his intention was divined the police disarmed and seized him before he was able to fire.

SORRY HE FAILED.

At the police station the man expressed regret that he had been unable to carry out his intentions. He said: "THIS IS AN AFFAIR BETWEEN ME AND MY CONSCIENCE."

It was just 9.15 o'clock when the carriage of the Shah emerged from the court of the Sovereigns' Palace, which was formerly the home of the American dentist, Dr. Evans. Seated in the carriage with the Shah was his Grand Vizier, while opposite him sat Gen. Parent.

The carriage turned to the left, toward the Avenue Bois de Boulogne. It had proceeded but a few yards when a man crept as a laborer and wearing a workman's cap sprang from between two automobiles, where he had been hidden. He broke through the line of policemen, overturning a bicycle officer, and jumped upon the royal carriage step.

HAD A REVOLVER.

In one hand the man had a cane, which he raised as though to strike; but this movement was only intended to hide the real purpose, for in the other hand he held a revolver.

The attempted assassination there came to an end, for the Grand Vizier struck the weapon from the man's hand, and at the same time officers caught his arm from behind and overpowered him.

A crowd of 500 people who witnessed the attempted assassination made a rush toward the would-be murderer and tried to attack him, but there were many police in the neighborhood acting as guards of the Shah, and these prevented the mob from doing violence to the miscreant.

The prisoner was then taken to the police station under a heavy guard for fear of a further attack by the populace.

The would-be assassin declines absolutely to give his name or nationality. He speaks but little, and that with a Southern accent.

THE POLICE BELIEVE HIM TO BE AN ITALIAN. HE IS ABOUT TWENTY-SIX YEARS OF AGE. Just before starting from the pal-

DEVERY FEARS ANARCHIST VIOLENCE HERE TO-NIGHT.

Chief of Police Devery fears Anarchist violence in this city to-night. The Anarchist leaders have lately threatened to break up the meeting of the Italian committee at Tammany Hall to arrange their support of King Humbert's death. Chief Devery has ordered a big force of police to prevent trouble. Detectives will mingle with the crowd and arrest all who attempt to annoy the orderly Italians.

Huge Beam Crashed Into the Workshop Where a Hundred Children Were at Work, and Hurt Nine.

Large Crowd Thronged Broadway and the Young Victims Were Quickly Rescued from the Wrecked Factory.

An iron girder weighing two tons slipped from a derrick on the fifth floor of the building in course of construction at Broadway and Walker street this afternoon and fell with terrific force through the roof of the five-story building at 54 Walker street.

One hundred and fifty persons were at work in the place, and the girder fell in the midst of sixty boys and girls who were busily employed in the pocket-book factory of M. Goldberg.

Several were thrown to the floor and covered with debris, while three were pinned under falling tables and badly hurt.

THE INJURED.

MORRIS WEISS, eighteen years old, of 225 East Fourth street; right eye torn out. Taken to Hudson Street Hospital.

FANNY COHEN, seventeen years old, of 324 Grand street; head crushed. Hudson Street Hospital.

MORRIS BLICHERBERG, sixteen years old, of 316 East Houston street; internal injuries. Hudson Street Hospital.

DAVID WALDMAN, nineteen years old, of 408 Sixth street; right arm fractured. Hudson Street Hospital.

ANNIE LAURIE, fourteen years old, of 210 Madison street; back bruised. Taken home.

EDGAR GALENHOF, fifteen years old, of 106 Monroe street; arms crushed. Taken home.

PHILIP FLOURIE, eighteen years old, of 76 Stanton street; leg wrenched. Taken home.

MAX KREINBERG, twenty years old, of 91 Delancey street; general contusions. Taken home.

ISIDORE EISENBERG, twenty years old, of 178 Stanton street; back injured. Taken home.

The girder struck the flooring with awful impact, glanced off and was wedged in one corner, while a shower of bricks, mortar and timber, carried with it, fell into the place, burying many of the workers.

BURIED UNDER DEBRIS.

The building creaked and trembled, while clouds of dust rolled through the windows. All the workers, panic-stricken, screamed for help, and forty others on the floor below added their cries to the din.

Those on the fifth floor were employed by M. Goldberg, and he, thinking that several of his employees were killed, ran to the street to turn in an alarm.

CRASH GATHERED CROWD.

As he reached the sidewalk he ran into a great throng that had been attracted by the crash and the cries of those in the building.

Somebody had sent in a fire alarm and the engines dashed up as Goldberg was hunting for the fire-box.

The firemen ran upstairs and met the rush of workers crowding down. Most of the latter were covered with mortar and were in a state of great excitement. Some were bleeding from cuts about their faces and hands.

These were helped to the street and search of the top floor was begun.

PINNED DOWN BY RUINS.

Under overturned tables they found Sallie Cohen, seventeen years old, of 28 Grand street; Morris Weiss, eighteen years old, of 225 East Fourth street, and Isidore Eisenberg, of 178 Stanton street.

All three were pinned down and their faces were smeared with blood.

Blaschke's right eye had been gouged out and he was unconscious.

Ambulance surgeons from Hudson Street Hospital had arrived and the three injured were hurried away to the hospital.

The surgeons went among those who had escaped from the building and found those suffering from minor injuries.

Edgar Golenhoff, fifteen years old, of 106 Monroe street; Annie Laurie, fourteen years old, of 210 Madison street; Philip Flourie, eighteen years old, of 76 Stanton street; Max Kreiberg, twenty years old, of 91 Delancey street, and Morris Berscher, sixteen years old, of 114 East Houston street.

David Waldman, nineteen years old, of 408 Sixth street, had his right arm fractured. He was attended and taken home.

After turning the injured over to the surgeons the firemen made a search of the top floor, thinking that somebody might have been killed, but all had got out.

CLOSE CALL FOR MANY.

The wreckage spread all over the workrooms and the firemen marvelled that no one was killed.

Policeman McLaughlin, of the Leonard street station, was on duty near the wrecked building.

He turned in an alarm and ran to the place. Some of the workers were out on the window-sills and others were crowding the stairs.

"The people were in a frightful panic," he said, describing the scene. "They came down the stairs in crowds and some tried to jump from windows, but I shouted to them to be quiet, and with the assistance of some passersby got them all out of the place.

"Then we ran to the top floor, where the girder had landed.

"Everything was chaos there. The big girder had smashed everything near it, but luckily there was good strong machinery in a room near the ceiling.

"This caught the force of its fall. Otherwise it might have crashed through the building to the cellar.

"The boys and girls employed in the place had been standing about at tables, working. As the girder hit the roof they started to run. Some near the stairs got down while the mortar and bricks were falling about them.

"Others, who stood directly under the spot where the big iron beam struck, were saved from instant death by the machinery, which acted as a support and held it clear of the floor as it settled.

"As it was, only three persons were caught in the debris. Those who did not escape by the stairs ran to the window ledge and remained there until rescued.

The girder weighed two tons. Three of the beams of the derrick slipped when the girder fell and crashed down through the unfinished building to the cellar.

NARROW ESCAPE.

There were about one hundred and fifty workmen in the building, and the beam passed within a few feet of some of them, but no one was injured.

The building at 54 Walker street is owned by the Lorillard estate.

The top floor after the huge iron girder had crashed through the roof looked as if a tornado had struck it. At the rear end was a heap of wood, plaster and iron in confusion.

Rows of tables covered with half-finished leather pocketbooks were coated with ceiling plaster.

A high piece of iron machinery standing near a rear window caught the descending beam and thereby prevented a score of deaths.

Alfred H. Norton, the foreman in charge of the ironworkers, of 109 Carlton street, Brooklyn, was arrested on a charge of criminal carelessness. He was paroled until to-morrow.

Baltimore and Ohio Dividend. The directors of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad held a meeting to-day and declared a dividend of 4 per cent. on the common stock, payable in two installments. The second installment will be paid within six months.
